

My dearest Sandhya,

As I sit here reminiscing, your name dances on my lips like a familiar melody. From the moment I first laid eyes on you, a spark ignited within me, a love that has only grown stronger with each passing year. Remember that day, etched forever in my memory? I still feel the butterflies in my stomach when I recall the way my heart stuttered.

Then came the days of shy glances and nervous conversations, culminating in the epic struggle to get your number. Every moment on the phone felt like an eternity, filled with the intoxicating thrill of connection. And when we finally met, it was as if the stars themselves had aligned. I knew then, with a certainty that transcended doubt, that you were the most valuable person in the world, the one I wanted by my side forever.

Our journey together has been a tapestry woven with threads of joy, laughter, and adventure. I cherish every memory, from the exhilarating rush of our first trip to the quiet peace of our long journeys to Mysore and Coorg. Each day spent with you has been a brushstroke of happiness on the canvas of our life.

But it wasn't always sunshine and rainbows. There were dark clouds too, like the difficult days you spent caring for me during my hospital stay. But even in those moments of vulnerability, your strength and unwavering love shone brighter than any sun. It was then that I truly understood the depth of your devotion, the immeasurable value you bring to my life.

Sandhya, you are not just my wife, you are my soulmate, my confidante, the very air I breathe. Your laughter is my music, your smile my sunshine, your love my anchor. Today, and every day, you are my valentine, the love of my life.

Thank you for sharing your journey with me, for being my rock, my best friend, my everything. I promise to cherish every moment, to nurture our love, and to always be there for you, just as you have been for me.

With all my love,

Your Forever Valentine